Ted -- were any comments received by yesterday's deadline? Can you advise on the timeline for approval at this point? Is the settlement now effective or do we have to wait longer?

Thanks for your help.

Regards,

Justin

I just received word that the settlement was published in the Federal Register today. Here is a link I was sent:

I've also attached is a pdf of the final AOC. This includes the changes that were made while the settlement was being reviewed by the Department of Justice. Thanks.

Subject: ABSORBENT - Settlement Status? / Update re D&O Claim & Denial

Ted & Fred,

I've not heard from you in a while regarding our settlement. Is review/approval still pending? Please update us on status.

In the meantime, I wanted to give you a heads-up on a D&O policy that we recently learned about. Despite a pollution exclusion, we submitted a notice of claim that was just denied. For background, I've attached the claim we made (forwarded by the following email), the referenced exhibits (including the policy itself), and the denial letter we received last week.

When one of you had asked during the settlement process, I previously advised that we did not have any other assets or other coverage besides the policies and denial letters that we previously forwarded. However, that was before we learned about this D&O policy (which was not scheduled as an asset by the Debtor) and Mr. Moffenbeier's claim on it, based on the EPA's demand letter to him. Not that this necessarily changes things (particularly in light of the denial and the inability so far of finding a coverage attorney to challenge the insurance company's denial), but as a potential asset of the Estate, I wanted to advise you of it.

I look forward to hearing from you regarding a status update when you have a moment.

Regards,

Justin

Navigators Pro Claims Dept.,

Please see the attached letter and enclosures, identical to our April 8, 2014 letter (assigned Claim No. TEMP82581), but now including an additional (5th) referenced exhibit that I just noticed had been inadvertently excluded from the original claim/letter.

Thank you,

Justin
